Art Unit: 1711

1. Claim 23 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The basis for the weight percent value remains unclear; it cannot be determined if the amine weight percent content is based upon the weight of decomposed polyol sans urea (and the associated residues) or upon the weight of the decomposed polyol containing the urea (and the associated residues)

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 20-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 54-78798.

The reference discloses the addition of urea to a polyurethane composition under conditions effective to decompose the polyurethane. See abstract. The disclosed process differs from the instant process, in that the instant process requires addition of the urea to the decomposition products rather than the polyurethane; however, the position is taken that it would have been obvious to add the urea to the decomposition products, because one would have expected the urea to perform an equivalent function to the one it performs when added to the polyurethane, namely to aid in the further decomposition of the products.

4. The examiner has carefully considered applicants' response and claims, as amended; however, the position is maintained that the reference renders the claims prima facie obvious. Applicants have argued that the reference fails to teach the addition of the urea during the instantly claimed recovering process; however, applicants' claims lack any definitive process limitations, other than the addition of the urea, that define or further limit the recovering process. Accordingly, the recovering process merely requires that the urea be added at some point during the processing of the polyol. Therefore, it is not seen that the amended claims patentably distinguish the instant invention from the prior art to any extent greater than the previous claims distinguished the instant invention from the prior art.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 1711
